Alex and the Lower Street Team
Lower Street
Remote (Global)

Hi Alex and the Lower Street Team,

I love the mission of making "podcasts that matter." In a world saturated with noise, building high-impact B2B content for agencies and enterprise companies is where I thrive.

I've spent the last decade leading video campaigns for global brands like Disney, Boeing, and Raytheon, which has given me a deep appreciation for the technical precision and reliability needed in high-stakes environments. I'm not just a Cam-B switcher; I'm a narrative editor who understands how to take a rough cut and elevate it into a polished, high-fidelity visual story.

Why I'm a perfect match for Lower Street:

- Mastery of the Pipeline: I am highly proficient in Premiere Pro and After Effects, and I am familiar with the Descript-to-Premiere workflow. I leverage modern tooling (including custom API integrations and browser automation) to keep my delivery predictable and my quality uncompromisingly high.
- Narrative Versatility: I'm constantly exploring the boundaries of storytelling. For example, I recently produced a proof of concept (`vimeo.com/1171216222`) that explores integrating AI-generated footage into longer-form narrative structures. I enjoy finding the right tool for the job, whether it's traditional b-roll or cutting-edge generation.
- YouTube & Podcast Experience: I've delivered across broadcast, digital, and social platforms, with a specific focus on narrative interview stories and platform-specific versioning (YouTube, Audiograms, LinkedIn).
- Collaborative & Proactive: I thrive in asynchronous, global environments. I'm a "player-coach" who loves sharing my process with peers and coordinating complex session files to ensure a show never misses a schedule.

I'm meticulous about the details—whether that's a frame-perfect transition, a subtle color grade, or even spotting a specific instruction like sneaking a Lime into my application.

I'd love to show you how I can help Alex and the team elevate Lower Street's podcasts to the next level.
